

YOU'RE INVITED

Discover a refined take on modern invitation designs.

“Herrgarde” wedding invitation featuring a striking floral design with a bold type printed on Mohawk superfine card stock by Paperless Post for Paper Source; papersource.com

“Mass Moca” modern architectural invitation suite inspired by color, movement, and balance featuring layering, geometric shapes, embossing, and foiled-stamped and screen-printed text by By Damí Studios; bydamistudios.com

PHOTO: MELISSA K. MCGOWAN PHOTOGRAPHY

A wedding invitation suite is the first indication of what’s to come – a tangible introduction to the celebration that feels as considered as every other design choice. For many of today’s couples, that means moving beyond typical templates in favor of something entirely custom, created from the ground up to reflect their personal style and the tone of the weekend.

This curated collection highlights stationers whose work spans a range of techniques, aesthetics, and one-of-a-kind artistry, offering inspiration for a truly personalized approach. Clean typography and balanced layouts define many of the designs, often composed of multiple pieces and guided by a thoughtful use of space that allows each detail to be clearly seen and appreciated. Unique shapes and custom inserts add a distinctive element – whether outlining the weekend’s events or presenting an illustrated map – ensuring every component feels intentional rather than purely informational.

Texture plays a defining role in bringing these suites to life. Heavier stocks, translucent vellum, and subtle finishes are layered with tailored bands, silk ribbons, or structured ties to keep each piece elegantly composed. These elements are as functional as they are beautiful, shaping exactly how the invitation suite is held, opened, and experienced.

The result of these designs feels current and distinctive – not because it is overly embellished, but because each element has been thoughtfully chosen and executed. In this way, modern invitation suites strike a balance between refinement and personality, offering a meaningful preview of the celebration to come!

Linen-wrapped invitation suite tied with a black suede cord featuring an invitation card with a custom monogram in gold foil on the cork back, shown with insert cards that continue the geometric theme by Ceci New York; cecinewyork.com

"Tablescape Drawing" wedding invitation suite featuring a mini enclosure card, a novelty enclosure card, RSVP card, and lined envelope by Cass Loh for Minted; minted.com

Sketched florals featured on a die-cut invitation and enclosure card tied together with a silk ribbon wrap, in a lined envelope with watercolor florals by Momental Designs; momentaldesigns.com

Fully custom invitation suite on four-ply cotton paper with black letterpress and black beveled edge in a custom embossed pocket folder by Southern Fried Paper; southernfriedpaper.com